

A Day in the Life of a

HealthyYOU[®] Vending Operator

Ever wonder what goes into being a HealthyYOU Vending operator day in and day out?

What exactly does a day in the life of an operator look like?

Get a Good Night's Rest

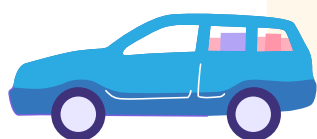

Healthy YOU offers an established business model that allows entrepreneurs to sleep at night, rather than worrying about making their dreams a reality.

Monitor Machines Remotely in Real-time

Our machines offer proprietary technology that provides a snapshot of virtually everything operators need to know about their vending machines—from wherever they choose to operate their business.

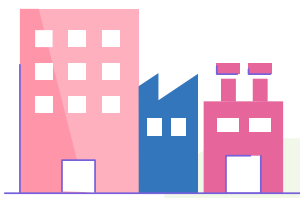

Refill Products & Attend Machines

Operators load up their vehicles with the products needed to refill their machines and hit the road to service their route. They also typically have cleaning and basic maintenance supplies at the ready.

Reorder Products from Suppliers

Our operators also have access to a vast nutritional products distribution network with more than 2,500 healthy drink, snack and meal options. All for the lowest possible price.

Introduce Healthy Vending to Other Locations

Healthy YOU Vending operators enjoy a level of scalability and flexibility that other business opportunities can't match. Approaching new qualified locations helps our independent entrepreneurs grow their businesses as quickly as they'd like—or not.

What's a Day in the Life of a HealthyYOU Vending Operator?

Healthy YOU Vending operators get a good night's rest, monitor their machines from wherever they are, identify those products to restock, service their route, replenish their supply of product and introduce the myriad benefits of healthy vending to other locations, as desired.

So, who's ready to be their own boss?

Healthy YOU Vending would love the opportunity to help you live the American Dream. Contact us today to learn why we say we're not a franchise; we're better than a franchise.
